WHAT IS IT ABOUT?

This course is designed to clarify and explain the basic aspects of a project and project management in order for participants to gain confidence in their project environment.

It will help individuals to recognise the key aspects of a project and the importance of their role within it. The course is also intended for those working in supporting functional departments whose work can impact on project success. This course provides an introduction to the Project Management Institute® (PMI)'s Body of Knowledge and covers all fundamental aspects of project management using the PMI's methodology. Delegates will be provided with pre-course access to eLearning content which is not mandatory but will enhance the workshop experience.
